where Mr. Gandhi's epic life ended on January 30th, 1948. Mahatma Gandhi lived in this house from September 9th, 1947 until his death, and the house is home to many treasures and memorable items from the last 144 days of his life.

Later we proceed to Old Delhi, built by the Mughal emperor Shah Jahan in 1639 AD. Your next stop will be - Jama Masjid, one of the iconic, historic and largest mosques in India - built by Shah Jahan. A rickshaw ride in Chandni Chowk could be quite interesting as this part of the city is quite crowded as it is full of shops.

After lunch, we will head to Gurudwara Bangla Sahib which is one of the prominent Sikh houses of worship. Gurudwara Bangla Sahib is the most prominent Sikh Temple of worship and is known for its association with the eighth Sikh Guru. You will get an opportunity to be part of the Langar or community meal. Langar, is the term used in Sikhism for the community kitchen in a Gurdwara where a free meal is served to all the visitors, without distinction of religion, caste, gender, economic status or ethnicity. Every single day of the year between 20,000 and 30,000 vegetarian meals are prepared and served.. All the ingredients and produce for these meals are donated by devotees and well wishers. The people preparing, serving, and cleaning up afterwards are all volunteers. A truly humbling experience to not only see the massive operation but if you can actually partake in their offerings, it will leave you a changed person forever.

Later, we will visit the UNESCO World Heritage Site Humayun's Tomb. Humayun was the second Mughal Emperor of India and the tomb was built by his widow, Biga Begum in 1569, 14 years after his death, at a cost of 1.5 million rupees. It was later used for the burial of various members of the ruling family and contains some 150 graves. It has aptly been described as the necropolis of the Mughal dynasty.

23 NOV, TUESDAY: AGRA – JAIPUR (245 KM / 6 HOURS)

Sunrise visit to the mesmerizing Taj Mahal. The most unusual story about the Taj is that there might have been two of them. The emperor intended to build a second tomb in black marble, a negative image of the white Taj. Tragically, before he could begin he was deposed by his son and imprisoned in the Agra Fort where he remained until his death, spending the rest of his life looking out at the Taj Mahal, the final resting place of his beloved wife.

The Taj Mahal – Shah Jahan’s enduring monument to love. This beautiful mausoleum in pure white marble is a thing of astonishing beauty and an architectural marvel. Its unique beauty and immaculately intricate execution all contribute to the breathtaking first impression as we pass through the arch of the entrance gateway. Emperor Shah Jahan, fifth of the great Mughals was devoted to his wife Mumtaz Mahal (jewel of the palace). Twenty thousand labourers and skilled craftsmen from Persia, Turkey, France and Italy were put into action to construct this unrivalled masterpiece.

Enjoy breakfast at the hotel.

After breakfast we will leave Agra and head to Jaipur. Along the way we will visit one of the hidden secrets of India - Chand Baori, in the small hamlet of Abhaneri. After lunch, continue driving to Jaipur. On arrival check in at the hotel. Rest of the day is at leisure. You can either take part in some interesting activities or just relax.

Interesting among them is the huge collection of weapons, from muskets to Howdah guns and magnificent horse carriages. Once you disembark, continue on a historical journey discovering the famous sights of Old Goa. Soak yourself in the tranquil atmosphere as you explore the St. Francis of Assisi Church, built in 1661. It contains gilded and carved woodwork, old murals depicting scenes from the life of St. Francis. The World Heritage Site of the Basilica of Bom Jesus with its Iberian exterior and lavish interiors that enshrine the mortal remains of St. Francis Xavier is majestically beautiful. The other churches that you will visit are the starkly beautiful Convent of Saint Monica, Se Cathedral, the largest of the Churches of Old Goa, also known for its numerous altars built during the reign of King Dom Sabastiao and the Viceroy's Arch built at the end of the 16th century to commemorate the centennial of Vasco da Gama's discovery of the sea route to India.

Later visit Spice Plantation Garden.

No visit to Goa is complete until one experiences the aroma of fresh spices. Some of these spices were brought in by the Portuguese to Goa when they made Goa their colony 450 years ago and held on to it until 1961.

Post plantation tour, proceed for lunch.

Conclude your tour with an excursion of Fort Aguada.

Fort Aguada: Construction of the fort was undertaken by the Portuguese in 1609 for the purpose of keeping an eye on the movements through the waters and the nearby areas and the structure was finally complete in 1612. Since then, precisely for over more than 400 years, the fort has stood strong (although some parts of it have been ruined) and its magnificence remains intact. It also houses the iconic Aguada Lighthouse and Aguada Jail. The location where the fort was constructed was of strategic importance to the empire and provided it a great defence base.

Aguada Lighthouse: This is one of oldest of its kinds in Asia as it was built in 1864. It is a four storeyed structure and when you take a view of the surrounding acreage from the lighthouse, it is just amazing. For the ones who love to take photographs, this is a place for you to look out for beautiful scenes and clicking opportunities.

Aguada Jail: Yes, there is a prison house in the fort where accused of crimes such as narcotics abuse, drugs sale and trafficking are lodged in. It is closed for public visits.

So whether that is going to the gym, visiting the spa, whale watching, catching up on your reading or simply topping up your tan, these blue sea days are the perfect balance to busy days spent exploring shore side.

04 DEC, SATURDAY: DAY AT SEA

05 DEC, SUNDAY: DAY AT SEA

06 DEC, MONDAY: PHUKET

Thailand’s largest island promises ocean bliss and wide beaches of indulgent opulence, with some of the country’s most attractive, and dreamily dramatic scenery. Head for sumptuous spas and perfect beaches, or explore the streets of busy Phuket Town, which hum with markets, lively celebrations and an endless chorus of whirring scooters. Phang Nga Bay National Park is a nearby treasure - a remarkable landscape of towering limestone karst. The iconic rock formations are breathlessly beautiful, encased by theatrical inlets and incredible greenery-clad rock formations. Heavenly beaches - where the sun dips to paint vibrant pink and red streaks across the skies - offer intense relaxation, and you can indulge in rejuvenating treatments or take it slow to enjoy cocktails and glorious sea views while swinging in a hammock. Wander beaches where the only sounds are the rustle of folding waves, and the gentle crunch of footprints in the sand. Watersport lovers can rip across the waves, or glide through the air while taking part in the various adrenaline-pumping activities on offer. Speedboat tours give you the chance to feel the salty whip of the air in your hair, as you whizz between secluded islands, and visit authentic stilted villages, teetering out over the beautiful waters. Tuck into a delicious fusion of Thai food - think crab curry and tom yum goong’s sweet and sour prawns – to ensure this sensory journey delights your taste buds too. Lavish temples, Chinese shrines and giant Buddha statues add another layer of cultural depth.

07 DEC, TUESDAY: LANGKAWI ARCHIPELAGO

As one of Malaysia’s primary Andaman Sea travel destinations, Langkawi island offers a little bit of everything. Set in an archipelago of 99 islands (plus five only visible at low tide) of the same name, it might not be as undeveloped as it was 10 years ago, but Langkawi still has coconut trees, sandy beaches and rice fields as far as the eye can see. Langkawi – the main island – has been featuring more and more on traveller’s bucket lists and rightly so. Known as the “Jewel of Kedah”, the island is all about nature. Jungle-clad limestone pinnacles rise up out of the water, pristine beaches run for miles and sunsets that melt into the horizon are par for the norm. Life is lived in the slow pace in Langkawi, just as it has been done since the 16th century, when European admirals would travel to the island to buy peppercorns. The 20th century has not been as kind to the island as it could have been. The island was declared a duty free haven in 1987, bringing bargain hunting crowds. The island's unique mangrove ecostructure offers much for the traveller looking to dive beyond the coast. So, if unspoilt natural beauty is what you crave, why not jump in a kayak and paddle your way through Langkawi's thick jungle, lulled by the sounds of the forest's (many) denizens as bemused monkeys will watch you from their treetop stations. Search the skies as well as the seas, as kingfishers, white-bellied fish eagles and kite eagles all call the forest home during migratory periods.

08 DEC, WEDNESDAY: GEORGETOWN (PENANG)

An incredible, disorientating collage of cultures and heritage, Georgetown is a fascinating layered city of countless influences. Taking its name from King George III, Malaysia's cultural capital, Georgetown, has long been a trading hub and outward-looking city. Grand colonial architecture mixes with Chinese, Indian and British influences, forming an artsy, exotic melting pot of food, colour and extraordinary heritage. Quirky coffee shops hum, while the fragrances of incense and sounds of gong strikes reverberate from temples. Rickshaws trundle through its streets, as modern street art adds interest to every spare wall. Shophouses, passed down through generations, add more colour to the rich mosaic of life on show here. Bright pagodas, layered with deities rise up, while multi-coloured paintwork shimmers in the sunshine of this UNESCO World Heritage Site city's historic streets. The fragrant spices of Little India offer a slice of Delhi - although if you're feeling hungry, Chulia Street's feast of street food is also a good starting point – try wonton noodles with soft pork. The Blue Mansion – another World Heritage Site – is a sky-coloured insight into the city's rich history and a star of the silver screen. The other World Heritage Site, the Clan Jetties, form a fascinating wander, as you climb across stilted boardwalk piers of over-water wooden villages. These fascinating floating villages were created by Chinese immigrant communities in the 19th century. Escape the city into the green rainforest of Penang Hill, or to Penang National Park - where trails slice through dense jungle and open up to pearly white beaches. Monkeys roam the trees, and giant lizards crawl, in this small but stunning national park.

09 DEC, THURSDAY: KUALA LUMPUR (PORT KLANG)

Towered over by the world's most famous architectural siblings - the Petronas Twin Towers - Kuala Lumpur is a staggering melting pot of influences. These twin towers stand 451 metres over the city and bathe in bright lights as night's cloak descends. The glittering skyline mingles with colonial architecture and ornate temples, which decorate lush hillsides around the city. Haggle your way through humming markets, visit cultural treasures and historic sites, and dive headfirst into this city, where tradition collides head-on with modernity. The capital of Malaysia, Kuala Lumpur, is a multicultural metropolis of lively markets and tongue-tantalising street food. Globe-trot between different streets and influences in minutes, as you discover diverse architectural treasures all over the city. Evenings are spent shopping in air-conditioned malls and bustling streets filled with sprawling outdoor markets. Fill up on fragrant coconut rice of nasi lemak and sink ice-cold beers to soak up the lively atmosphere. Malaysia achieved independence in Merdeka Square in 1957, when the Union Jack was lowered, and Malaysia's flag was hoisted high into the sky. One of Malaysia's most visited attractions is Batu Caves, an awe-inspiring, colourful journey into a sacred void in these immense limestone cliffs. Huge statues tower over the brightly-hued steps, as you climb to the unique cave temple, in this most dramatic of locations. The golden onion dome of the National Palace, Istana Negara, is a spectacular sight, where horses clop and white-robed soldiers wait patiently. Look for the Malaysian flag fluttering before it – if it's present, the King and Queen of Malaysia are in residence.
