Gain an understanding of two lifestyles that are polar opposites: that of the working people that live on the outskirts of Monte Carlo and that of the billionaires in town. The railway is a vital mode of transportation for many residents of Monaco, known as Monegasques, who commute to and from more reasonably priced districts by train. You will see a cross-section of those commuters before riding a public bus to industrial Fontvieille, where the guide will explain the working-class lifestyle. Another bus will bring you to La Condamine, a 19th-century covered market where you will observe a genuine slice of daily life while snacking and browsing the stalls. Back in Monte Carlo, where a third of the residents are millionaires and billionaires, you will see the places where they spend lavishly, including the boutiques and casino. Understanding the billionaire lifestyle in particular will be eye-opening and quite the contrast to most everything you have seen previously.

- Ride the bus with Monaco's working-class commuters for a genuine slice of daily life.
- Browse a covered market and mingle with the residents as they shop for necessities.
- See the boutiques and casino where Monaco's billionaires spend lavishly.
- Dress in weather-appropriate clothing.

During your hands-on cooking class, you'll apply the guiding philosophy behind Tuscan food, a joyous interplay of garden-fresh vegetables, beans, salt-less bread and fruity olive oil. Consider the judicious use of thyme, rosemary and fennel, as well as the preference for artisan-crafted, sharp sheep's-milk cheese, which lends a saltiness and pungency to pastas, savory pies and salads. Perhaps you'll prepare ravioli or tortelli, the region's classic stuffed pastas filled with ricotta or potatoes and pancetta then topped with a meat ragout, tomato sauce or sage and butter. Among Tuscan desserts, perhaps try a dome-shaped cake called zuccotto or a flatbread studded with grapes that dates back to Etruscan times. You'll savor a mouthwatering lunch consisting of the dishes prepared during your lesson, perhaps paired with the region's renowned wines, which include brunello di Montalcino, vino nobile di Montepulciano, Chianti, vin santo, vernaccia di San Gimignano and the relatively new super Tuscans, all epitomes of Tuscany's boundless gastronomic gifts.

- Journey to the picturesque walled city of Lucca on a drive through quintessential Tuscan landscapes.
- Meet the gracious staff of an esteemed restaurant, where you'll participate in a cooking class.
- Discern the subtleties of Tuscan flavors as you prepare classic regional dishes such as tortelli or ravioli.
- Indulge in a delectable lunch of your own creation, likely accompanied by world-class wines such as Chiantis or super Tuscans.
- Wear casual, weather-appropriate clothing and comfortable walking shoes.
