Delve into the designs of two wildly unconventional buildings with an architectural historian that will explain the daunting challenges of constructing them. You will first behold Domus, a seaside science museum whose façade resembles a full sail. However, the rear of the building is jagged, much like the rocky shoreline from which it rises. While you pause for photos of the exterior, the guide will describe how Japanese architect Arata Isozaki created this slate-, glass- and stone-covered futuristic landmark. In contrast, ancient pilgrimage routes inspired the design of the extraordinary City of Culture of Galicia in medieval Santiago de Compostela. The intention was for the cultural center to become a beacon for pilgrims seeking knowledge. The construction of the center's six buildings was quite the undertaking, as the exteriors were designed with complex contours so they appear to be part of the rolling countryside. Traveling by coach from the harbor, you'll head first to Sausmarez Manor – a handsome family estate with roots that date back to the 13th century. During your visit, you can wander among some 150 sculptures displayed throughout the Manor's rambling woodland gardens. The plantings here thrive naturally around a central lake and offer a rich abundance of color, especially during camellia season. Traveling west along charming country lanes, you'll soon arrive at Bruce Russell's Gold and Silversmith's workshop, set on five acres of its own prize-winning gardens in St. Saviours. A modern tree sculpture, a waterfall cascading into a Koi pool and an original granite cider press all add to the ambience of this idyllic spot. While here, watch artisans at work and admire a variety of their handmade products. Enroute back to St. Peter Port, experience the Little Chapel in Les Vauxbelets, lovingly built as a faithful miniature of the Lourdes grotto and basilica. Despite its size, this diminutive consecrated church is richly adorned with mosaics of seashells, pebbles and pieces of fine Wedgewood and Royal Doulton china.

Departing by coach from picturesque St. Peter Port harbor, you'll head directly to the Guernsey countryside. From the harbor, your coach heads southwards passing Havelet Bay enroute to La Vallette Military Museum, housed within tunnels designed to be used as refueling tanks for the German U-boat fleet. Along the way, your driver-guide will provide commentary. After independent time to visit this fascinating Museum, your coach heads away from the St. Peter Port skyline and onwards through the parish of St. Martin and out to Guernsey's rugged coastline at Pleinmont Point. As you travel back down to sea level, take in views of the many fortifications from both the Napoleonic era and the more recent German Occupation. Pass one of the most iconic historic constructions - the Martello Tower situated at Rocquaine Bay, known as Fort Grey - which was built to deter Napoleon's invasion forces. Meander through the orchards at a family farm that makes Rocquette apple ciders and sample a remarkable variety of them. As you travel inland, you will notice the countryside becoming more and more agricultural. Although cider-making dates to the 1700s in the Channel Islands, it has experienced a renaissance. To meet the growing demand, the farm that you will visit planted an additional 5,000 apple trees over the past two decades. The owners also updated their equipment and altered their farming techniques for organic production. The result is a selection of alcoholic and non-alcoholic ciders with distinct characters and crisp tastes. You will sample as many as nine Rocquette ciders that may include a refreshing draft with a prominent “apple” taste, a medium-strong aromatic cider blended with hops and a sweet cider made with raspberry juice. Local cheese, fresh-baked biscuits and the farm’s own apple chutneys will be served as accompaniments.

Unlock many of the colorful secrets of St. Peter Port during this guided walking tour and Castle Cornet visit. Your amble from the pier carries you along some of the same steep lanes and passageways that passengers, porters and privateers used for centuries to make their way from the bustling quay up into the town hills. Given something of a free license for dubious activities by the British crown long ago, smuggling and legalized piracy became an integral part of the civic fabric here and your knowledgeable guide will regale you with many a swashbuckling historical tale on the seafront walk towards iconic 13th-century Castle Cornet. On entering this 13th-century stronghold, you’ll quickly get a sense of what life was like for those within this imposing place – by choice or otherwise– as you relive myths, murders and manifestations that have taken place within its cold stone walls. To warm things up a bit during your visit, you’ll enjoy a taste of the local fruit bread, gache, and coffee. Afterwards, you may remain at the Castle to explore its fine museums independently or return at your leisure to the center of St. Peter Port and the pier.

- Take a guided walk through the steep cobbled lanes of what was once a medieval mercenary’s haven.
- Learn how a history of legalized piracy – and legitimate wine trade – created great wealth here.

ZEE-014 YPRES, IN FLANDERS FIELDS(PRICES IN USD PER PERSON)*Duration: 7.00 Hrs Tour Price: $0.00*Retail Price: $149.00*Date: July 10, 2024 11:00 AM

This moving excursion focuses on the dramatic history of World War I and the battles fought in and around Ypres and Flanders Fields. Made forever – and hauntingly – famous by the words of the poem In Flanders Fields by Canadian Lieutenant Colonel John McCrae, the endless trench warfare battles fought without decisive victories in these poppy fields left 1,200,000 injured and 500,000 dead – and have come to symbolize the meaningless slaughter of war. You'll visit one of the British cemeteries and see the Menin Gate Memorial with the names of over 50,000 missing soldiers engraved on its walls. Your tour of award-winning Flanders Fields Museum will make it clear this is no normal war museum; its innovative exhibits capture the human stories of ordinary soldiers, nurses, fugitives and children who endured this war where "new" weapons like gas, land mines and missiles wreaked horrific destruction. You'll also visit Essex Farm Cemetery, where the author of In Flanders Fields was inspired to write his now-famous poem in 1915 after witnessing the burial of his friend lost in battle. Midway through the excursion, free time will be taken for lunch and shopping at your leisure in Ypres.

- Travel to Ypres and surrounding Flanders to visit several poignant wartime sites and monuments.
- Pay your respects to an entire generation of soldiers maimed or killed in the endless, indecisive World War I battles fought here.
- See the cemetery where a Canadian medic was moved to write the immortal poem, In Flanders Fields.
- Visit the In Flanders Fields Museum, presenting the stories of the war's ordinary participants in an extraordinary way.
- Break for lunch on your own and some free time in central Ypres.
- Wear weather-appropriate clothing; include a light raincoat and umbrella as lowlands weather can change rapidly.
- Flat, comfortable walking shoes are recommended.
- Bring a hat, sunglasses and sunscreen as needed.

Experience Bruges like a local by exploring areas off the beaten path but still in the shadow of landmarks such as Kruispoort. Although you will stop at this 15th-century gate, the sites that lie ahead will reveal a lesser-known but not less spectacular side of Bruges. You will see windmills along medieval ramparts, follow atmospheric lanes through residential neighborhoods and pause at the bridges and inner canals that gave Bruges its nickname, the Venice of the North. Upon arriving in St. Anne's, you will behold the Jerusalem Chapel, which was designed to mirror the Church of the Holy Sepulchre in Jerusalem. By the 16th century, Bruges had become a textile center for woven lace, and you will observe a demonstration of this artisan trade that continues to flourish. Another way to become immersed in local life is at the Markt, a sprawling square that has been a marketplace for more than 1,000 years.

Smaller and more contained than many other Flemish cities, watery Bruges begs for exploration on foot – and by boat – and this excursion has both covered. After the transfer from Zeebrugge pier to Bruges' historic center, your guide will walk with you through a delightful warren of narrow, winding cobbled streets. Stroll the bustling Grote Markt square, anchored by the 13th-century Belfry Tower with its signature 48-bell carillon. See a Town Hall more opulent than many palaces. Admire the flamboyant façade of the Chapel of the Holy Blood, a building steeped in religious legend and spectacular Renaissance details. Then take to Bruges' tree-lined canals as you relax on a 30-minute cruise by small boat – plying a delightful network of waterways and enjoying views of the city you can't get any other way. Later, you'll take some free time for self-directed exploring or shopping for chocolate and lace before the short coach ride back to your ship.

- Zip from the pier to central Bruges by coach, then set out on foot with your seasoned guide in the lead.
- Amble winding, narrow streets where ancient gabled buildings share the scene with tree-lined canals.
- See iconic landmarks like the Belfry Tower, spectacular Town Hall and the Chapel of the Holy Blood.
- Experience a completely different view of Bruges on 30-minute small-boat cruise along its canals.
- Use some free time to grab a bite, shop for local crafts or chocolate, or just soak up more of Bruges' medieval character.
- Wear weather-appropriate clothing; dress conservatively to enter the cathedral.
- Flat, comfortable walking shoes are recommended.
- Bring a hat, light rain jacket or umbrella, and sunglasses and sunscreen as needed.

This tour includes approximately 2.5 hours of walking, at times over uneven ground, cobblestone surfaces and with some steps to negotiate to enter and exit the canal boat. The tour is not considered suitable for wheelchair guests or those with mobility concerns.

ANR-002 BREENDONK SS TRANSIT CAMP(PRICES IN USD PER PERSON)*Duration: 3.50 Hrs Tour Price: $0.00*Retail Price: $79.00*Date: July 11, 2024 01:00 PM

Step back into a chilling chapter of history on an excursion to Breedonk, the moated Flemish fortress that became a notorious Nazi-era prison camp. Just a 45-minute drive outside Antwerp, Fort Breedonk was built as part of the Belgium's defenses – but when Germany's SS gained control during World War II, it became something far more offensive. Confronted by wartime civil disobedience and resistance from the locals, the Nazis converted Breedonk into a concentration camp intended as a transit camp for eventual transport to Auschwitz. But the conditions were so brutal, half the 3,532 prisoners brought here never made it out to anywhere. Ceaseless beatings and random executions were the norm; a treatment that became known as "The Hell of Breedonk." Once the site came into Allied hands after Liberation, it briefly served as an internment camp for war criminals. Today it serves as a well-preserved museum – a stark memorial to the countless lives lost here and within the wider web of Nazi terror across Western Europe.

- Travel by coach across the Flemish countryside to tour a military fort transformed by the Nazis into one of Europe's most terrifying prison camps.
- Learn about the inhuman conditions that prevailed here, and why half those imprisoned never left.
- Pay your respects to those who perished by visiting this carefully preserved memorial to WWII terror.

- Flat, comfortable walking shoes are recommended.
- Bring a hat, sunglasses and sunscreen as needed.

Inside, you'll be introduced to a collection of the world's most revered Rubens paintings – most notably his Elevation of the Cross and Descent from the Cross. Elsewhere on the tour you'll stroll a street so tiny and hidden, you have to know what ancient doorway to walk through to even find it. ANR-010 ANTWERP PUB CRAWLDuration: 2.50 Hrs Tour Price: $0.00*Retail Price: $69.00*Date: July 11, 2024 07:30 PM

Get deliciously acquainted with Belgium's beer culture on a walk that stops in for samples at a series of Antwerp pubs. After a short coach ride to the city center, your guide will lead the group boldly into an eye-opening beverage adventure. Besides tasting some very appealing lambics and gueuzes (each served in its own optimum-shape glass, please!), you'll learn much about the various brewing techniques and ingredients that give each beer its unique flavor. To balance the taste and add complexity, lambic beer is fermented with fruits such as raspberries, apricots and grapes. Gueuze-style beers blend lambics of different ages and then re-ferment them, sometimes with sweeteners. Antwerp's oldest still-operating brewery dates from 1833, but these Belgians have been crafting beers since the 1300s – and they've got it down. You'll sip your way through the offerings at three wonderfully representative pubs, attempting to describe the subtle flavor differences you taste, maybe even concluding which you like best. No worries though, there's no final exam at the end. But you will have to remain in suitable shape for ambling: we'll be heading back to the cruise port on foot. So, don't oversample.

- Embark on a curated pub walk through beer-blessed Antwerp, sampling the brews as you go.
- Acquire some serious fermenting knowledge here in a country esteemed for its hops heritage.
- Learn about the usual, and occasionally downright odd, ingredients used to flavor beers.
- Leave with a new appreciation for the difference between lambics and gueuzes, and the proper glass shape from which to drink each.
- Wear weather-appropriate attire and bring a light raincoat or umbrella as lowlands weather can change rapidly.
- Flat, comfortable walking shoes are recommended.
- Bring a hat, sunglasses and sunscreen as needed.

This tour involves approximately 1 hour of moderate walking over occasional uneven and cobblestone surfaces, with a few steps. The tour is not available to wheelchair guests and not considered suitable for those with mobility difficulties. Guests must be at least 18 years of age.
